

CHEF PORTFOLIO

Website Content & Page Structure

A premium structure for building a modern private chef / culinary portfolio website.

Prepared as a practical website planning document

1. Project Objective

The chef portfolio should feel different from a standard restaurant website. Its purpose is to present the chef as a personal brand and showcase culinary skill, experience, signature dishes, services, credibility and private dining experiences. The website should guide visitors toward one main action: requesting a booking or consultation.

2. Recommended Main Navigation

Page	URL	Purpose
Home	/	First impression, brand story and conversion
About Chef	/about	Chef biography, experience and philosophy
Experiences	/experiences	Private dining and event services
Menus	/menus	Signature and sample menus
Gallery	/gallery	Food, events, plating and chef photography
Journal	/journal	Recipes, stories and culinary articles
Contact / Book	/contact	Booking enquiry and consultation form

3. Homepage Structure

Hero

Full-screen cinematic food/chef image or video, chef name, short positioning statement, location and two CTAs: “Book a Private Experience” and “Explore My Work.”

Meet the Chef

Short introduction with portrait, culinary background and a link to the full About page.

Experiences

Highlight private dining, dinner parties, corporate events, weddings, villa/yacht dining and personal chef services.

Signature Dishes

Show 3–6 visually strong dishes with short descriptions.

Menus

Preview one or two signature/sample menus and link to the complete Menus page.

Gallery

Editorial-style image grid featuring dishes, plating, events and chef-in-action photography.

Testimonials

Client quotes, ratings or other genuine social proof.

Booking Process

Explain the journey: consultation → menu design → preparation → experience → clean-up/finale.

Final CTA

Strong closing section such as “Plan Your Private Dining Experience” with a booking button.

4. About the Chef — /about

This page should feel personal and premium rather than like a conventional CV.

- Chef portrait and introduction
- Culinary journey / personal story
- Training and education
- Years of experience
- Cuisine specialties
- Culinary philosophy
- Awards and certifications (only if genuine)
- Restaurants, brands or clients worked with (where appropriate)
- Link to booking / consultation

5. Experiences / Services — /experiences

Private Dining — Personalized multi-course dining experiences at the client's home or chosen venue.

Dinner Parties — Elegant dining for birthdays, anniversaries and private celebrations.

Corporate Events — Professional culinary experiences for companies and executive events.

Weddings — Custom menus and professional catering for wedding occasions.

Villa / Yacht Dining — Luxury private chef experiences for travel, villas and yachts.

Weekly Personal Chef — Meal preparation designed around lifestyle, preferences and dietary requirements.

6. Signature Menus — /menus

Menus should be presented visually instead of relying only on a downloadable PDF. Each menu can show the number of courses, dish names, short descriptions and dietary notes.

Example: Tasting Menu — 7 Courses

- Amuse Bouche
- Scallop
- Beef Tenderloin
- Seasonal Vegetables
- Cheese
- Pre-dessert
- Chocolate Crèmeux

Optional: "Download Full Menu PDF"

7. Portfolio / Gallery — /gallery

- Signature Dishes
- Private Dining
- Events
- Behind the Scenes
- Chef in Action
- Plating

Use high-resolution, consistent photography and an editorial layout. Avoid filling the page with unrelated or low-quality images.

8. Testimonials — /testimonials

Use genuine client feedback with name/initials and context where permission is available. Avoid generic or invented testimonials.

Example: “Chef Alexander completely transformed our anniversary dinner. Every course was beautifully presented and tasted incredible.” — Sarah M.

9. Press & Awards — /press

Optional page for genuine media coverage, awards, interviews, TV appearances, publications and professional recognition.

Important: never add fake awards, Michelin claims, publications or client logos.

10. Journal / Recipes — /journal

- The Art of Plating
- 5 Seasonal Ingredients I Love
- Behind My Signature Dish
- How I Design a Tasting Menu
- A Night in the Kitchen

This section can strengthen the chef's personal brand and provide useful long-form content for search visibility.

11. Contact / Booking — /contact

Recommended enquiry form fields:

- Name
- Email
- Phone
- Event Date
- Location
- Number of Guests
- Type of Experience
- Dietary Requirements
- Tell me about your event

Primary CTA: REQUEST A PRIVATE EXPERIENCE

12. Visual Design Direction

Element	Recommended Direction
Overall style	Luxury, editorial, modern culinary brand
Background	Warm ivory / cream or sophisticated dark theme
Typography	Elegant serif for headings + clean sans-serif for body text
Accent	Muted gold / bronze used sparingly
Photography	Cinematic, high-resolution food and chef photography
Animation	Subtle scroll reveals, image transitions and micro-interactions
Layout	Magazine/editorial composition with generous whitespace
Mobile	Fully responsive; prioritize images, menus and booking CTA

13. Recommended User Journey

1. WOW — Hero image/video creates the first impression.
2. WHO — Visitor meets and trusts the chef.
3. WHAT — Visitor understands the available experiences.
4. SIGNATURE — Visitor sees menus and best dishes.
5. PROOF — Gallery, testimonials and genuine credentials build trust.
6. PROCESS — Visitor understands how booking works.
7. ACTION — Visitor submits a private dining enquiry.

14. Suggested Project Folder / Page Structure

CHEF PORTFOLIO

- Home
- About Chef
- Experiences
- ■■■ Private Dining
- ■■■ Events
- ■■■ Weddings
- ■■■ Corporate
- Signature Menus
- Gallery
- Testimonials
- Press & Awards
- Journal
- Contact / Book

15. Key Principle

Build the website around the chef, not just the food. Food photography attracts attention, but the chef's story, personality, expertise, services, social proof and simple booking journey are what turn the portfolio into a professional business website.